ERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

Association of whose organization we gave ut a few days since, is now ready to distribute shares As it is with one exception the d Homes and Association the pioneer or ion of that kind in this city, it may be ugh to state what are its purposes and ner in which it is proposed to conduct its ns The purposes of these Homestead ations are not at all speculative in the or sense of the word They are dependent profits of their investment upon the natural ance in the value of their lands, consequent upon the co operation of many individual holders—and the advance on values of all ding lands by reason of the expansion of tion and demand for room outside of, but ear the city The Riverside Homestead ation has a fraction over one hundred and acres of land situated just south of gn on the east side of the river, the boundary line being about one mile from the anding at East Portland The tract lies s up along the Wallamet river, half a mile th, and another strip along the Oregon and nia railroad half a mile in length, the two being connected near the middle by two blocks (with a street between them,) the forming a figure not unlike the letter H. vided into 71 blocks 200 feet square (with running at right angles) and 80 fractional along the river front The shares number worth $50 per share It will be seen that thus represents nearly a lot with an undivided interest in the 80 fractional lots The 80 fractional shares are to be sold off at the proper time benefit of the Association, shareholders in for the proceeds in proportion to the of shares held When all shares are and the Association shall determine to do it, the choice of lots and blocks be put up at auction to the highest the proceeds of such sales after deducting original price of shares or lots, to be divided among the whole number of shares If a person wants a particular lot or block, willing to pay $100 or $300 premium (more as the case may be) he pays it and takes it or block as his individual property, the um being divided among the whole number of shareholders It will be seen, therefore, this thing is co operative, and all interests are No man can make a dollar out of it without so making a dollar for every other equal holder. There is no chance for loss, unless property by some chance should depreciate below the first actual cost. Whether this is to happen in the case of this particular of land must be judged by each for himself considering the steady and unprecedented on real estate in this city and neighborhood and at East Portland and vicinity, for the year or two it seems hardly possible for to go back.
The Riverside Association all proper precautions seem to have been taken to guard against monopolies of shares No person is allowed to more than the number of shares representing blocks, or twenty four lots, and votes deciding the operations of the Association are sted in the same manner The buyers of may pay down $50 per share, which will put them from all assessments or they may $5 quarterly with an assessment of $3 per payable with the first installment, being in this latter case to another (and only one assessment of $3 per share. Upon the ent of the shares in full, with the [illegible] ve, the holder is entitled to his certificate is proportion of all the profits accrued from ress. No officer of the Association [illegible] pay for services except the Secretary, who $25 per month so it will be seen that the ses must be light at part of the tract lying along the river is h plateau, nearly level about 60 to 90 feet the water There is no part of the front f blocks but commands a splendid view of and and the river for miles up and down m That part of the tract lying along the ad is, every foot of it of the richest loam nd adapted to gardening purposes A beautiful little stream of pure water runs through t the entire length of this wing of the tract, ding the means of irrigation and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the t tract There is not a waste lot or fractional the entire tract Under all these advan , it would seem impossible that there should y chance of loss to shareholders Within a each shareholder if he choose, may get a at title to as many lots as his shares may sent, or he may continue his interest undivided, with the Association while the organization may exist.—Oregonian.

E RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

have been led to make these remarks from the hat the subject of making homesteads on the outskirts of this city and East Portland, is being thoroughly ed here among all classes and one homestead the side "just south of East Portland—has already established The site selected is a tract of land a little over a mile south of the ferry landing It is d like the letter H one side of which, a half mile gth, borders on the river n this portion of the homestead which is [illegible] little above the other prong of the H but is still or fifty feet above the river can be had an extensive ew of Portland East Portland the shipping, and illamette river for several miles The land is very and is partly covered with light fir timber A of land just wide enough for two rows of blocks, n avenue between them connects the west prong H (which has already been described) with that o st This last tract of land is in a beautiful little which is now under a high state of cultivation gh its whole length runs a trout brook the water ich is clear as crystal With a hydraulic ram the [illegible] have water conveyed through every portion of the homestead.—Daily Bulletin

Personnel of the Oregon Senate

S[illegible] generally get things [illegible] in the following sketches [illegible] of the Oregon Senate which we take from the H[illegible]

Butler, J W [illegible] the Republican majority in the Senate and is a brother of Hon Roger Baldwin of Conn [illegible] Roger Sherman one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence He was born at New Haven and [illegible] at Yale in 1848 [illegible] in his [illegible] In 1849 he [illegible] on the Stanislaus river California in partnership with General Grant who is [illegible] same President [illegible] cigars He is the author of the celebrated [illegible] published at Salem in 18[illegible]

Brown, N H This gentleman is generally known as "Brown of Baker," from the fact that he represented that county He was born at Con[illegible] N H two days after the battle of Lexington, and is a violent Radical He accompanied his uncle, old John Brown of Ossawatomie, in the attack on Harper's Ferry when he was wounded by falling off a cart He left the steamer Tycoon at Umatilla and his soul goes marching on

Brown Samuel is commonly known as "Brown of Marion" because he always has sweet potatoes on the table when he invites British army officers to dine with him He is one of the most substantial Democrats in Oregon and recently subscribed one thousand dollars to the Stonewall Jackson Monument Fund He is a man of the most indomitable energy and hence the proverb "It'll never do to give it up so Mr Brown"

Burch B F the "Wilberforce of Webfoot" as he is sometimes called represents the county of Polk He is one of the early emancipationists and ran for Presidential elector on the Fremont ticket in 1856 He came to Oregon as agent of the Liberia Colonization Society in 1840 and distributed tracts for Abby Kelly and William Lloyd Garrison until 1852 He is a great champion of popular education and intends visiting New Haven this winter for the purpose of removing Yale College to Corvallis At present he is engaged in examining the books of the penitentiary with a view to ascertaining "who frowed de las brick into Reed's Opera House"

Cochran, R B This youthful statesman may be justly styled "the coming man" of the great Willamette valley. His impressive delivery his imposing appearance and his broad and liberal views of legislation stamp him as the first young man in Oregon In all matters involving appropriations he is lavish and believes in the State's giving its money a chance He has no great political aspirations himself but is devoting all his energies to secure the election of James D Fay to the United States Senate Mr Cochran is justly deemed the leader of the Republican majority in the Senate and is by many thought to be a better parliamentarian than Vice President Colfax to whom he bears a personal resemblance He was born at North Adams Massachusetts in 1848

Cornelius Thos R The talented Senator who heads this paragraph is the real representative man of Bed rock Democracy in Oregon He was born in Columbia S C and was educated at the joint expense of Pierre Soule and John C Calhoun of whose teachings and doctrines he is so able an exponent Of late years he has become a trifle more conservative, but during the dark days of the civil war he made the welkin ring by lauding Jeff Davis and damning the soul of old John Brown the patriot martyr

Crawford Mr R H is a Republican from Linn, and belongs to the Orthodox Quakers. He is a man of fine literary abilities, and wrote a book called "The Impending Crisis" erroneously attributed to a literary plagiarist named Helper We regret to learn that he is soon to leave Oregon to accept a position on the editorial staff of the New York Tribune

Hendershott James [illegible] of Saw[illegible] gan Maine [illegible] and [illegible] from the family of Cotton Mather His parents designed him for a steamboat pilot, but his calm [illegible] mind [illegible] higher and holier mission was in store for him At six years old he could repeat whole chapters of the writings of [illegible] and would spend hours in [illegible] poring such gems as "Young's Night Thoughts" and the poems of Hannah More His first political appearance was at the meeting of the New England Anti Slavery Society in Faneuil Hall where he won the applause of thousands among whom were Wendell Phillips and John G Whittier He drafted and sent on to George H Williams the celebrated Fifteenth Amendment and has shown himself the apostle of freedom As a laborer in the cause of temperance and a fearless enemy of strong drink, he has no equal, and is the Nestor of the Good Templars in Oregon He knows the power of Whisky and believes in putting it down Mr Hendershott is a forcible orator and has more of the old Roman Senator about him than any other man we have ever met He represents Union county and has faithfully opposed all the aggressions of foreign capitalists and monopolies His residence is at La Grande where he boards with La Grande Duchesse

Hitzlaw, B A represented Josephine county in the Senate He has been appointed Junior Warden of the Penitentiary [illegible] and [illegible] a report from the [illegible] on Ways and Means the other day while the prisoners were being inspected by the Governor, is a baseless fabrication of the Radical party

Hult Enoch represents Linn county He was chairman of the Committee on [illegible] Morality and was instrumental in amending the game law so as to include the fascinating and seductive game known as [illegible] such In the provisions of the act

Lieuallen J R was generally known as the Williams of Umatilla and from his emphatic way of voting put one greatly in mind of Charles Sumner In 1849 he went into a saloon to play billiards and removed his coat and vest for that purpose While the game was going on a thief slipped in and stole his vest He has been hunting the fellow ever since, and swears he will go without a vest till he catches him

Moores J H represents Marion county He is a States Rights Democrat His poems the most popular of which is "The Bonnie Blue Flag" have stamped him as a young man of rare genius and [illegible]

Mosher, La Fayette This gentleman is the son of a wealthy [illegible] of Wethersfield Conn and came to California in 1849 as supercargo of the ship [illegible] loaded with onions and codfish He is one of the most radical Republicans on the Pacific shore and [illegible] partisan of George H Williams He [illegible] that would smell as sweet by any other name and has a large family whom he supports in affluence by putting up champ[illegible]

Newlon W H represents Yamhill county and is generally known as the [illegible] Statesman He [illegible] the Republicans [illegible] but was obliged to [illegible] at his opponent Dr [illegible] W [illegible] the poet who wrote

Let [illegible] to tew [illegible]
For [illegible] their [illegible] tew
Let bars and lyins groal an' plure
Fur they don't know no bette

Paterson A W, is a Senator from Lane county He is a short, fat man, and weighs about three hundred pounds

Powell David, represents Multnomah county He is a life-long Democrat and is in favor of a Pacific Republic.

Stout Lansing also represents Multnomah county He resides at Springville and is extensively engaged in the fishery business During the last three months he has packed over six thousand barrels of salmon He was born at Marblehead Mass and came to this State in the smack Polly [illegible] By way of amusement he goes a fishing once every two years [illegible] this [illegible] seems to [illegible] that the time chosen by the Senator to go a fishing is on [illegible] day [illegible]

Strahan R S is a tall [illegible] assumptive [illegible] from Benton county He practices law in all the courts of the upper Willamette valley, and is a staunch Republican He owns the celebrated Well at Lan[illegible] which he raises forty bushels of the [illegible] bull frogs

Thompson D P is a prominent Democrat of Clackamas He has distinguished himself [illegible] [illegible] John Holladay's attorney [illegible] and is [illegible] ly called the watch dog of the treasury He was born at Kit Kelland's mill on the Schenucky river in East Tennessee [illegible] years [illegible]

Trevitt Rev Victor, is a clergyman of Wasco county and preaches every Sunday at the O S N Co's woodyard, at Celilo with Deacons Knaggs and Holmes to take up a collection for him He was born at Podunk, Maine and is 87 years of age He is also a splendid mathematician and surveyor and greatly distinguished himself in the construction of the Sandy Wagon Road He is a man of warm friendships and is indefatigable in his friendship to Senator Cochrane and Joseph Teal and unrelenting in his antagonism to the Senatorial aspirations of James W Nesmith

The President of the Senate is Hon James D Fay of Jackson He is justly deemed the ablest man in the Republican party of Oregon and was born at Plymouth Mass in 1822 His father having died during his minority his guardians Horace Greeley and Joshua R Giddings resolved to spare no pains in his education He was accordingly sent to college at Oberlin, Ohio, where he graduated with the highest honors He then entered the office of Wm Lloyd Garrison as a student of law where he received the loudest praise from Wendell Phillips and Lucy Stone He was admitted to plead before Chief Justice Chase in 1865 and is generally believed to have written the opinion on the Legal Tender Act In religion he is a Hardshell Baptist and was immersed by Rev Theodore Parker, through the ice in the Cochituate river some six years ago He is a great admirer of General Sherman, to whom he dedicated the popular refrain of "Marching thro' Georgia" Mr President is a widower and good looking, hence there is no justification for any young lady of average beauty and intelligence to be "running away" for a young man

The Power of the Press

Kinglake in his singular work "The Invasion of the Crimea" traces with quaint but graphic skill the mischievous influence of the London Times and the British press generally in stimulating that intense war feeling which precipitated the Anglo French alliance of 1854 and led to the subsequent campaigns in the Crimea The real objects of the alliance had been attained by the moral support given to the Turkish arms by the intervention of the Western Powers The raising of the siege of Silistria and the retreat of the Russian forces across the Pruth before the threatening demonstrations of Austria backed by Prussia had removed the real grounds of the quarrel and the settlement of a treaty of peace could have been easily secured with no very great exertion of diplomacy But it suited Louis Napoleon just seated on the Imperial throne to divert the rising agitation of the French people by the illusive glories of a foreign war In spite of the well known pacific sentiments of the English Cabinet in spite of the tremendous commercial interests involved in the preservation of peace and in spite of the auspicious opening for negotiations he succeeded in drawing England into the fray

The power behind the throne which compelled Lord Aberdeen and Mr Gladstone to desert their pacific policy and drift into war was represented by the great Thunderer The skill and audacity with which it manufactured a warlike opinion mark one of the most successful feats of sensational journalism the world ever saw Partly by goading but more by ascertaining and following the current of opinion, the Times finally succeeded in firing the English heart with the most intense belligerency The prospect of settling the great vexed "Eastern Question" by inflicting a sweeping disaster upon Russia held forth in such glowing colors carried away the last remnant of peace feeling and the Administration and the Parliament found that the choice between peace and war was no longer theirs The current of public opinion could not be withstood, and the British Government played into the hands of the cunning French usurper

The terrible sufferings of the British army and the enormous expenditure necessitated by the Crimean war, has not only created a reaction against the Russo-phobia of 1854 but it has also provoked suspicion against the integrity of the old organs of British public sentiment It is now found that to counterbalance this dangerous power of mischief held by the press the intelligence of the readers must bear a higher proportion to the skill and power of the writers Hence the public mind has shown a growing indisposition to yield itself to the manipulating processes by which it has hitherto been moulded and yields credence only after much more of thought and study than formerly This is not only true in England, but also in this country The great metropolitan organs are conscious of a waning influence upon public sentiment The leading journals of both countries are constantly enlarging their outlay of intellectual power in the way of editorial comment but after all the most influential newspaper is the one that secures the earliest and fullest details of news Editorials are now read with much less of implicit reliance if not with a decided distrust as compared with former times

These indications mark a gratifying [illegible] of public intelligence and a [illegible] grasp of the responsibilities of self government on the part of the people The real power of the press may not be diminished but its [illegible] influence in the community is not so great as in former times It is now counter balanced by a wider range of culture and by a more general diffusion of knowledge It will hence have less temptation to engage in those sensational movements which have given it such power for mischief in the past Its opinions not being received with implicit confidence must be after a accompanied by a careful showing of specific facts [illegible] of argument more amenable to the common [illegible] common sense criticism This cannot fail to elevate the character of the press [illegible] render it still more worthy of public confidence Its real power will always be measured by [illegible] and ending [illegible]

The King and Bismarck are comfortably quartered in Versailles and ready to see Paris either frying in its own fat crushed under shot and shell, roasted in a general conflagration or dying of the slow tortures of hunger In the latter event the Prussians and we are forewarned that even a surrender would not save hundreds of thousands from afterward dying of hunger The Germans will have as much as they can do to feed themselves and can spare no food to a starving foe They will not even be able to allow food to be brought to them for they must have all available means of transport all food and forage for their own needs There is talk of accumulating food for the starved Parisians in the Belgian frontier but the Germans might be obliged even to take this for themselves under a necessity that knows no law.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING NOVEMBER 15, 1870

Russia Coming to the Front.

It is seldom that opportunity [illegible]. Fifteen years ago France and England united their strength in a war to prevent Russia from absorbing Turkey, and after an exhausting war ending with the capture of Sebastopol the Czar was constrained to make peace on terms [illegible] which he has ever since been restive. Russia was interdicted from the Black Sea and forced to agree to conditions which have prevented her from making armaments in that quarter against Turkey and which have compelled her to forego or postpone her long cherished design of possessing the outlet of the Black Sea into the Mediterranean. France and England placed her under these bonds and she has been waiting for the time to arrive when she could demand to be released from them. France is now prostrate and is no longer an obstacle to Russian designs. Great Britain standing alone is not feared by Russia. Russia therefore sees her opportunity and makes a formal demand for the removal of the restrictions under which the Western Powers placed her at the close of the Crimean war.

Her time is certainly well chosen. The opportunity is better than she could have hoped for, and all she could desire. Germany has engaged France and prostrated her military strength and there is certainly plausible ground for the supposition that exists in England that there is a secret understanding between Russia and Prussia. Russia is to offer no interference in the war between France and Germany, but allow Germany to make all the conquests she is able while Prussia is to interpose no objection to Russian enterprises in the Black Sea and against the Sultan but allow the Muscovite to subjugate the Turk, if he can. Such is the theory which facts and indications do indeed render quite plausible. Naturally the situation is alarming to England. For if Russia now wishes, she may renew her quarrel with Turkey and what is to prevent her from accomplishing the design in which she was foiled fifteen years ago by the power of England and France?

But would Great Britain engage in a war now to keep Russia out of Constantinople? Without the aid of the powerful ally which enabled her to baffle Russia before, would she be able to baffle her again? One thing she might do: she might send a powerful fleet to Constantinople and occupy the Dardanelles before Russia could do it. With the assistance England could thus render, the Turks might be able to make for a time a successful defense against Russia. A study of the cable dispatches will show that new complications are very likely to arise which may embroil all the leading powers and spread the flames of war over all Europe.

American Tonnage

The United States holds the second rank among maritime nations, its tonnage being far in excess of every other country except Great Britain. Since iron superseded wood to so great an extent in naval architecture the increase of the tonnage of Great Britain has relatively been more rapid than that of the United States. It has been demonstrated that iron, in almost every respect, is superior to wood in the construction of ships; that the cost of building ships of that material is from thirty to forty per cent cheaper on the Clyde in England, owing to lower wages and the accessibility of coal and iron, than in this country, and that this is the reason why Great Britain now has the advantage in ship building. While vessels were constructed of wood the advantage was largely in favor of the United States, because we had the materials, and Great Britain had to purchase them. No theory of the problem of how to place the United States at the head of ship building countries is worth anything that does not comprehend the overthrow of old theories and practices, and bring us face to face with new ones. Wooden sailing vessels will no doubt long continue to be used, and may, even, be preferred in some trades but not in the more important ones such as the China and India, in which they have already been crowded out; while for swift steam lines, in which time is the controlling condition, iron will hold a close monopoly. All parts of the world are being rapidly brought into a close relationship through the means of sub-marine cables which are multiplying with great rapidity, so that the longest voyages can now be planned with a degree of certainty which takes them out of the definition of mere ventures. It is the nation that can build cheapest which will obtain the ship-building patronage. England at present enjoys it in iron vessels but there is no reason why such a condition should be regarded as permanent. In times past we fairly outstripped her in the model and construction of wooden vessels, and may vie with her in iron ship-building when we have had time to get our industries established, so as to meet the conditions which have arisen.

IRRIGATION IN MONTANA.—The Helena (Montana) Gazette has published several interesting articles on the construction of an important canal capable of carrying several thousand inches of water for purposes of mining and agriculture. The proposed canal will tap the Jefferson river bringing a portion of the water of that stream a distance of one hundred miles covering the extensive and exceedingly rich gold placer mines in the Crow Creek Radersburgh Spokane and Helena regions, and supplying valuable intermediate agricultural lands with the only element required to reclaim them to all the needs of the husbandman. The Gazette, in discussing the subject, says:

> We shall not speak of the importance to the country that such an enterprise would be in the light of an increase of the precious metal production, but view it in a more permanent and durable aspect, that of development of the agricultural interests. Should this canal be constructed by the time the Northern Pacific Railroad reaches this Territory the increased production of cereals would warrant exportation. The millions of acres that are now waste and barren would then bloom and blossom, would give remunerative employment to thousands who otherwise would never seek a home in Montana.

A Pennsylvania paper says that Hon. John Cessna (Rep.) of the Sixteenth Congressional District of that State proposes to contest the election in his district in which he was beaten by fifteen votes on the ground of the colonization of a large number of voters from Franklin and Somerset counties, who he says had no legal right of suffrage except in their own district. It is understood that the Hon. D. J. Morrell will also contest for the seat in the Seventeenth District, frauds having been discovered whereby an apparent majority of eleven was given to Speer, Democrat. Congress ought at once to give Messrs. Cessna and Morrell their seats. We never were very clear as to how these things should be done till the Democratic majority in the Oregon Legislature showed us the way. Taking their out for it there is no question but Judge W[illegible] of his State [illegible] to which the Slater claim to be [illegible]. He should [illegible] to Washington next winter [illegible] it.

Democrats hate stamps. They have been cursing stamps ever since the necessity for issuing them came about. Many and many a column has the editor of the Herald written in objurgation of stamps. The stamp of all villainies was [illegible]. Will the Herald [illegible] stamp act which [illegible] State [illegible] is authorized to [illegible] the Secretary of State to keep them for sale and every insurance policy issued in this State must be pasted over with them. Think of a Democratic legislature passing a stamp act. It should be stated however, by way of explanation, that the principal reason for it was to provide fees and pickings for Democratic State officials.

The Herald jubilates about Arkansas being "[illegible]," meaning that its party has carried the State. Will it please examine the day's dispatches and revise its returns accordingly?

THE TERRITORIES

Yakima Valley now contains 5[illegible]0 inhabitants and settlers are constantly flocking in.

The trial of Douglas, who killed Holbrook at Idaho City, has been postponed. Douglas is out on $5,000 bail.

A man named C. H. Levins has run away from Boise City, leaving his business partner James Mullany in the lurch to the tune of a round sum.

A woman named Josephine Underwood while coming down from Moon Creek to Idaho City a short time ago was robbed of one thousand dollars in gold dust.

George W. Mathews was found dead in his bed at a hotel in Boise City a few days ago. A vial containing a few drops of laudanum was found in the room. It is supposed that he committed suicide. He formerly resided in this city and was a member of one of our fire companies.

The Walla Walla Statesman reports that the small pox has broken out among the Indians living on the upper part of the Nez Perce reservation and that at last accounts no less than 15 of the Nez Perces were likely to die of the disease. The disease was introduced by Indians who had been across the mountains to hunt for buffalo and had there contracted the disease.

An Idaho paper reports that a man named Malloy was killed by a Chinaman a few nights ago at Idaho City. Malloy had broken in or was engaged in breaking in, the Chinaman's house for the purpose of robbery, when John defended his property by killing him. Malloy was cut in about twenty places, which shows that a struggle had taken place. Sufficient evidence was found to make the Chinaman's story appear plausible.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS ITEMS

An underground route through Baltimore is now the subject of discussion among the roads centering in that city.

A dispatch dated London, 12th, says it is the opinion in London military circles that the Germans must end the war by January, or else be defeated.

The American Institute Fair which closed in New York Nov. 5th was addressed by Professor Silliman. Over 800 prizes were awarded. The receipts were $100,000; net profit, $35,000.

A Galveston dispatch dated the 4th inst. has this: Galveston is to-day is draped in mourning in respect to the citizens who were lost with the steamer Varuna. Business is suspended and the flags are at half mast, and the bells tolling through the city.

A St. Louis dispatch dated Nov. [illegible]th says: It was given out last night in the fistic circles that the fight between Allen and Gallagher was off, Gallagher's backers refusing to risk their money, but this was only a blind, for at 7½ o'clock this morning the parties met on the island opposite the arsenal, below the city and fought, Allen winning in sixteen rounds, time, 26½ minutes. About fifty persons were present. Gallagher was badly punished. Allen was not hurt much.

Enforcing the Law

A Washington dispatch of the 28th ult. gives this:

The status of affairs in New York and the preparations of the Government to sustain its officers in the enforcement of the laws, is said to have been the subject of some consideration to-day. Among other measures which the President has resolved upon is that the census of New York shall be retaken in respect to the enumeration of inhabitants according to the new boundaries of the districts as recently established by Mayor Hall. This order was sent to the Secretary of the Interior to-day. Hall's action having been taken for the purpose of destroying the relations of the census to the vote, the Mayor and his confreres will now find their game checkmated by this new action of the Government. This is also done in order that if the election of November should become the subject of controversy either in Congress or out of it the census may bear some relation to the returns of the election. It will also afford Mayor Hall a chance to prove his boasts that the census is not correct. It was, perhaps, his last proclamation, and its criminal declarations, which induced in part the resolve to have a second enumeration. The Government will leave no effort untried to make this matter clear as daylight, and the result will be that Mayor Hall and his adherents of the ring will be convicted of all that has ever been charged against them. It may be as well to state that the United States officers in New York are not paying attention exclusively to the doings of the poor creatures and tools whom Tammany hires to do its criminal work. This work would not be done if it were not incited and paid for by men high in position who deem themselves secure from its consequences. They may not find themselves quite so secure on this occasion. The law is broad enough to cover precisely the work which Tammany's leaders have been doing for the past five years and there is grit enough among the officers to take hold of the leaders if they get caught. The Government regards it as work only half done when the man who registers and votes fraudulently is arrested and convicted, while the leader who incites resistance to United States laws in public speeches and advises or connives at double voting, or fals[illegible] counting in private confer[illegible] goes unpunished. So the people of New York need not be astonished if the Marshal's writs go for higher game than mere ward politicians.

PACIFIC COAST SURVEY.—An abstract of the annual report of Professor Pierce, Chief of the United States Coast Survey, is published in the New York papers, from which we take the following relative to the work on this coast:

The work now in progress on the west coast comprises the following operations: Determination of the latitude, azimuth and magnetic elements at three principal stations on the Santa Barbara Channel, coast of California and difference of longitude between San Francisco and the lighthouse on Point Arena; coast topography between Santa Barbara and Point Conception, and between San Pedro and Point Dumas; special examination of the tides and currents of San Francisco Bay; azimuth triangulation and topography in the vicinity of Point Arena; reconnoissance and topography of Humboldt Bay, and special examination of changes in shore line at the mouth of Eel River; shore line survey from Red Bluff to Eureka; azimuth near Crescent City, and topography north of Point St. George; plane table survey of the north shore of the Columbia River, Oregon; completion of the topography of Port Discovery and Washington Harbor and their connection with New Dungeness rock; plane table survey of Blunt's Island, from Admiralty Head to Deception Point."

WAR MISCELLANY

Dr. Strauss in a reply which he has written to M. Renan's letter says: "When one day our victorious army shall recross the Rhine to return to their homesteads, but without many young men who left full of ardor, they will bring us as the best prize of the victory which could not be too dearly purchased, the unity [illegible] those who have fought side by side in [illegible] battles against a common enemy and shed their blood for the same cause [illegible] their [illegible] face to [illegible]. The blood of the sons of the North and [illegible] will have forever cemented German unity [illegible] taken in this sense the saying [illegible] blood is a fluid of peculiar power."

German correspondents are sending home terrible accounts of the ferocity of the people in all the portion of France occupied by the Prussian forces. At Nancy the troops are no longer quartered upon the inhabitants because so many have been murdered. Everywhere Franc-Tireurs and guerrillas are increasing in numbers and the losses by them are continual. Robbed and starving people driven to desperation are taking bloody revenges. Nowhere is this hostility greater than in the annexed territories but it is very bitter even at Versailles, where the ladies dress in mourning and will not even look at a Prussian and where the men refused to touch their hats or pay the smallest civility to the King of Prussia.

A London correspondent writes: "The war feeds the war and France if any France remains is expected to pay for all at the end of it. Besides her territories, fortresses and fleet France is to pay all damages to Germany, cost of war, loss of commerce, interruption of industry, and even to restore the exaction of the wars of Napoleon I. Never was a country so stripped and burdened to boot since whole peoples were carried away captive and reduced to chattel slavery by their conquerors. For a century to come a large proportion of the labor of France must go to enrich Germany. And the English papers talk about 'the delicate question of permitting Prussia to destroy France.' It is a very delicate question."

A correspondent of a German paper who has been in Russia says that he has just returned to Lemburg from Podolia where he has passed the whole of the summer, and that although there is not much indication of special military preparations, the troops are so stationed along the frontier that 100,000 men could be marched across the Pruth or into Galicia at very short notice. The officers are very hostile to Germany and expressed their antipathy in so open a manner that the Government had to interfere. There is no doubt, says the correspondent, that the latter is on very good terms with Prussia, and the general impression in the army seems to be that a new Turkish campaign is imminent. Russia now having her hands free through the defeats of France and the connivance of the Berlin Government. Her only opponents could be Austria and England, neither of which would in the opinion of the Russians be a serious obstacle to the realization of their plans.

A letter from London to the New York Times has this: According to present appearances the Prussians have more to fear from climate and the difficulties of their position than from the armies of France. Around Metz we are told by the Germans, or correspondents with the Germans, that the cattle are dying so fast that it is difficult to bury them, while typhus and dysentery are decimating the troops. There is typhus also even among the comparatively well sheltered troops at Versailles. Famine also threatens the investing army. Only by the most active system of raiding over the whole area of forty or fifty miles radius from Paris can the army be fed. This zone will be soon exhausted. Three larger forces must be detached to ravage Normandy and the whole country between the Loire and the English Channel. Meantime the peasantry of the Vosges are setting an example which other desolated departments may follow. If the country round Paris is exhausted and the communications with Germany are cut, how is the Prussian army of half a million of men to be fed? France, the Times now tells us, is becoming mad with hatred and the spirit of vengeance. In Germany the spirit of freedom will be crushed for a whole generation while the demon of war will be lording it over Europe. The distress spread over the invaded districts of France is unspeakable. Along the roads are swarms of fugitives in such a state of squalor and misery as chills the blood of the beholder."

COMMERCIAL MATTERS

A report from San Francisco, Nov. 4th, has the following:

Since the lottery drawing, the million dollars locked up through its agency are again coming into circulation. It is curious to note the universality of reprobation which has overtaken the lottery scheme, and the voices which were dumb prior to the drawing are now out in full cry. It is one of those rare instances in which the sympathies of an entire community are enlisted on one side, and the opportunity for a good, strong scold is too precious to be lost by those who find it hard work to write against space.

The entire capital stock of the new Gold Note Bank, reaching $1,000,000, has been subscribed for, and it is anticipated that a second of these institutions will be set on foot in this city. During October the deposits in the Branch Mint of San Francisco were 135,481 ounces of gold and 87,510 of silver, and the coinage amounted to $1,800,000 in double eagles, and $75,000 in half dollars.

It is stated on official authority that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company is building four immense iron screw steamers for the Atlantic trade. These vessels will be 6,000 tons each, and of the finest models for speed, comfort and safety. It is beyond all question that screw steamers are far superior to side-wheelers for ocean navigation. The example of the Pacific Mail Company will probably be followed by the East, and may possibly exert a great influence in restoring American commerce to something like its former status.

Advices from British Columbia about cranberries are unfavorable; the crop yield will be light. Up to this date we have received but limited supplies from Oregon or Washington Territory, while from Michigan, Illinois, etc. we have already received by rail about 1,000 barrels, with the promise of as many more before New Year. These latter are for the most part a superior quality—packed dry, and sell upon the average at $17 per barrel of 28 gallons. Oregon cranberries are worth about 37½ cents per gallon.

The local supply of flax seed, including that from Oregon, promises to approximate 2,000 tons the present season, or nearly sufficient to the mill requirement. The demand for linseed oil is now quite limited. The factory price to the trade is $1@1 05 for raw and boiled. Castor beans continue to command 4½c per pound at the mill, and the oil plant, which is said to be superior, commands $1 [illegible] per gallon. Oil cake meal sells at $25 per ton.

Coal arrivals have been quite limited of late. The last cargo of Australian sold at $9. Bellingham Bay and Coos Bay are held at the same price; Mt. Diablo, $8; Liverpool $[illegible]; West Hartley, $12; Anthracite $9@11; Cumberland $20. There is likely to be a movement in this article before long.

Coffee holders are exacting enhanced rates, not being anxious to make sales. We quote Costa Rica and Guatemala at 21@20½; Manilla and Kona, 19½@20c; Old Government Java 24½@25c.

As is usual on the 1st of the month there is quite a brisk movement in drugs and chemicals; 5,000 pounds cream tartar in crystals sold at 37 in bbls. Other articles without change.

The trade in dry goods, clothing, etc., is up to the full average of past seasons, but unfortunately stocks are light and assortments much broken. Our woolen mills are both in full operation, running chiefly upon Eastern orders. The mills in Oregon, as well as in the interior of our own State, now find increased encouragement in the manufacture of cloths, cassimeres, etc.

The market for lumber and other building materials show no improvement in value. We quote cement $3 per barrel; plaster $3@3 50; laths sell at $[illegible]; shingles $2 25@2 50; redwood lumber $15@18 50 for rough and dressed; Puget Sound pine $13 50@14 for rough, $27@30 for dressed flooring, etc. Cargo sales for export from mill ports $10@11 for timber, $18@19 for flooring.

Candles are in better request, causing an advance in the price of San Francisco Company's stock of one half cent—now 17c. Grant's ex ship sell at 14[illegible] from store 18c.

The speculation in champaign and other French goods continues. About 4,000 baskets are said to have already gone forward to New York, consisting of Piper Heidsieck, Widow Clicquot and other favorite high cost wines, the price of which has advanced from $20@21 up to $30@[illegible], which is now the agency price of Piper Heidsieck. At these advanced rates the demand has fallen off very considerably, and drives many consumers to the more general use of the commoner, low priced wines. These, too, have advanced considerably, though not to the extent of those first named, and which by the way, are the only kinds that will do to ship East. However, operators and dealers are here turning their attention to the medium priced champaigns, the stock of which is estimated in the neighborhood of 10,000 [illegible]kages. This movement in champagne is stimulating Landsberger & Co. and the Buena Vista Vinicultural Society to manufacture more extensively than ever before of sparkling wines. These we now quote at $10@14 for the various brands of California sparkling, including Private Cuvee, Muscatel, etc. French Clarets wines have advanced from $38@40 per cask up to $43@45 for Bordeaux.

[illegible] be startled dear [illegible]

[illegible] a superhuman [illegible] quality of breeches [illegible] here to strike [illegible] the weather had [illegible] the interest [illegible] street [illegible] have nothing to do but be curious [illegible] Yesterday [illegible] were made glad [illegible] the highness Dr. Weidler the countenance [illegible] terra firma which sustains the weight of the great city of Portland. The Doctor's was no ghostly countenance, so we all knew [illegible] that the ship was [illegible] somewhere around. In short the Doctor distinctly [illegible] he ship would be [illegible] the wharf about [illegible] o'clock and that if at the expiration of that time or thereabouts we would come aboard he would donate us a certain Memoranda, or the marine romance entitled Memoranda of the good ship Geo. S. Wright, by Weidler. And that is how a valuable local reporter came near being cast away, stranded and otherwise wrecked in general. At [illegible] o'clock the witching hour when the night was dark as Erebus, and about half the street lamps were a thundering sight darker, the said local reporter started down the street whistling "shoo fly" as he went, to keep his courage up, in search of the steamship George S. Wright and the aforementioned author of memoranda. All went as merry as a marriage bell till the reporter had passed the Cosmopolitan hotel, passed the hurdy gurdy houses, passed the [illegible] of the new bricks with their scaffolds and piles of debris, passed the dark angle of North Front street, passed the last dimly flickering gas light on the steamship dock, and passed into the worse than Egyptian darkness of the dock beyond. Then the whistling of "shoo fly" became low and tremulous, and fitful, as if there was a dawning consciousness in the reporter's mind that "shoo fly" was not exactly the thing to whistle where no fly, whether of the shoo family or otherwise would ever think of spreading his wings and buzzing forth, either for pleasure or grub or to pester. Suddenly the whistle ceased altogether as the reporter saw, or thought he saw (a figure of speech, as it was too intensely dark to see at all) the colossal figure of a garroter just at the end of his nose. Then the reporter wished he hadn't come, and trembled for the last dime in his right hand vest pocket, but even as he gazed seeing nothing, the spectre vanished so unlike the style of a garroter's vanish that the reporter knew in a twinkling the dark form had been only a parcel of thicker, blacker darkness than that which surrounded. Then there was a groping—a reporter alone on a wide dock, with only a four inch plank, or perchance a beam, between him and the waters beneath—then a bump and a profane remark; a post had been found if the steamer had not, and the reporter knows whose nose found it; then a stumble by way of variety, then another bump and a continuation of the already mentioned profane remark. This sort of thing went on till it became morally certain that no steamship such as sought for could be moored at that dock, because, if there had been the reporter must have bumped against her. At length a gleam of light—C street—an up hill grade, then a grate inter[illegible], which finally resolved itself into a ten foot gate, with pointed pickets, no passage except a [illegible] one ten feet out of reach in the direction of the little star which the nursery poet called "Twinkle Twinkle." The reporter could not think of any passage of scripture which would answer the purpose, so he tried the northwest [illegible] over the pickets. A sprained ankle and a fearful rent in the rear of his pantaloons attest that he effected the passage. Then down North Front past the tronm[illegible], past the [illegible], out in the pitchy darkness toward the wharf which has lately been moved from where it now is—a stumble, a fall, such a fall! and the reporter subsequently finds his hat in a pile of rubbish down below, but no reporter attached thereto; a bruised and skinned leg which proved eventually to belong to the reporter, and following this line, the reporter suspended by a suspender in a condition of demoralization and bewilderment such as the reporter in question never remembers to have found himself in during the whole course of his long eventful and useful career. Getting out of that the reporter concluded that that particular section of the universe was not a good place in which to hunt for lost steamships, and so he wended his way home sadly and thoughtfully, humming to himself "O carry me back," etc. It is, perhaps, needless to remark that the steamship was not found, at least not where the reporter looked for her.

"OUR SISTER REPUBLIC."—This is the title of a new book of over 500 pages, published by Bancroft & Co. It was written by Col. Albert S. Evans, one of the party of four persons who accompanied Hon. Wm. H. Seward on his grand tour of Mexico at the invitation of the President of that Republic. It is an exceedingly well written account of a gala trip through tropical Mexico with graphic descriptions of the country, its wonderful scenery, matchless antiquities, strange customs of the people, their religious superstitions, progress and present condition. It contains also sketches of President Juarez and other prominent Mexicans and stirring reminiscences of the Spanish conquest, Maximilian, the Empire of Mexico and its downfall. The book is profusely illustrated with engravings and portraits. Mr. Seward says of the book: "The account of our travels is full, truthful and accurate, the descriptions vivid and striking, the style brilliant and attractive, and the book is interesting and I think calculated to do much good." [illegible] Brose, of Illinois, editor of the Chicago Tribune, says: "Col. Evans' style is wonderfully graphic and his descriptions always brilliant, vivid and complete. I know of no writer whose productions I more heartily enjoy." A cursory examination of the book is sufficient to justify the encomiums thus bestowed upon it. Col. Evans is indisputably a writer of the most talented order and with a subject about which cluster the romances of centuries, he has written a book of extraordinary interest. Mr. Robert Barry, agent for the sale of the book, is now in this city and will to-day begin the canvass for subscriptions. No book has ever been offered in our State better worth the money asked than this.

THE [illegible] PAVEMENT.—We observe that of late the [illegible] pavement on Front street is broken in quite a number of places. Some of these require immediate attention or the cost of repairs will be greatly enlarged. There are a few places where only a few blocks are sunk, as though the underlying plank had rotted and allowed them to be driven down. In other places the breaks extend a part of the way across the street where the foundation planks were butted without breaking joints. In still other places the breaking of the pavement is doubtless due to the settling of the ground into the sewers and cellar drains. [illegible] spring it will be necessary to take up and repair many sections of the street. We suggest to the Council that it will be economy to make early provisions for having all the street sewers and cellar drains built of brick and cement where they underlie the street pavement, with arched coverings. Wood decays [illegible] that [illegible] plank sewer [illegible] expected [illegible] years. Every time the pavement is taken up for the purpose [illegible] and thus rendered [illegible] give way [illegible] provision should be made [illegible] the necessity for cutting the pavement every time anybody wants a water [illegible] from this cause there are [illegible] where other wise the pavement would have been sound.

REVENUE [illegible].—Mr. Thos. Frazar, [illegible] Revenue Assessor for the District of Oregon [illegible] [illegible] Revenue [illegible] with the names [illegible] Assistant Assessor [illegible] number of the division [illegible] of the Assessor [illegible]:

CITY.

A Lost Steamship.—Don't be startled, dear, sensitive readers—there were no lives lost, though one valuable one was put in dire peril and the steamship itself may at this moment have a good constitution and be every way as taut in rig and time of sail as ever she was. A steamship was lost last evening, though we know it, he once we couldn't find him (we call her him because he has a male name—the Geo. S. Wright. And this is the story of the lost steamship, and how a local reporter was almost lost, though finally saved through good luck partly, and partly through his extraordinary sagacity, superhuman [illegible], and an excellent quality of breeches [illegible]. The Geo S. Wright, hence to Sitka, and way ports; thence to this port via way ports, after being a long time absent, the weather had been excessively stormy; and hence the Geo. S. Wright had become an object of some interest, not only to owner, consignees and all that sort of thing, on account of material interests in ship and cargo, but to newsmongers, street loafers and those who have nothing to do but be curious about what is going on in this world. Yesterday forenoon the hearts of all these were made glad through the sight (optics unassisted) of the rubicund [illegible] of his highness, Dr. Weidler, the ship's purser, on the terra firma which sustains the weight of the great city of Portland. The Doctor's was no ghostly countenance, so we all knew in a moment that the Doctor was a living man, and, by the same token, that the ship was somewhere around. In short the Doctor distinctly informed this deponent that the ship would be at the wharf in about two hours, and that, if at the expiration of that time or thereabouts, we would come aboard, he would donate us a certain [illegible], entitled "Memoranda, or the [illegible] of the good ship Geo. S. Wright," by [illegible]. And that is how a valuable local reporter came near being cast away, stranded and [illegible], wrecked in general. At 7 o'clock, the [illegible] when the night was dark as Erebus, and [illegible] half the street lamps were a thunder[illegible], the said local reporter started [illegible] whistling "shoo fly" as he went, [illegible] courage up, in search of the steamship [illegible] Wright and the aforementioned author [illegible]." All went as merry as a marriage bell till the reporter had passed the Cosmopolitan hotel, passed the hurdy-gurdy houses, passed the perils of the new bricks with their [illegible] piles of debris, passed the dark [illegible] Front street, passed the last dimly [illegible] light on the steamship dock, and [illegible] the worse than Egyptian darkness of [illegible] beyond. Then the whistling of "shoo fly" [illegible] low and tremulous, and fitful, as if [illegible] a dawning consciousness in the reporter's mind that "shoo fly" was not exactly the [illegible] where no fly, whether of the shoo [illegible] otherwise, would ever think of spreading [illegible] and buzzing forth, either for pleasure or to pester. Suddenly the whistle [illegible] together as the reporter saw, or thought [illegible] (a figure of speech, as it was too intense [illegible] at all,) the colossal figure of a garroter [illegible] at the end of his nose. Then the reporter [illegible] he hadn't come, and trembled for the [illegible] in his right hand vest pocket, but even [illegible] nothing, the spectre vanished [illegible] style of a garroter's vanish that the [illegible], in a twinkling the dark form had [illegible] a parcel of thicker, blacker darkness [illegible] surrounded. Then there was a [illegible] reporter alone on a wide dock, with [illegible] plank, or perchance a beam, be[illegible], the waters beneath—then a bump [illegible] remark; a post had been found, if [illegible] had not, and the reporter knows whose [illegible] then a stumble by way of variety, [illegible] bump and a continuation of [illegible] mentioned profane remark. [illegible] thing went on till it be[illegible] certain that no steamship such [illegible] could be moored at that dock, be[illegible] had been the reporter must have [illegible]. At length a gleam of light [illegible] up hill grade, then a grate inter[illegible] finally resolved itself into a ten foot [illegible] pointed pickets; no passage except a [illegible] out of reach in the direction of [illegible], which the nursery poet called [illegible] Twinkle." The reporter could not [illegible] passage of scripture which would [illegible] purpose, so he tried the northwest [illegible] the pickets. A sprained ankle and [illegible] in the rear of his pantaloons attest [illegible] of the passage. Then down North [illegible] past the ironmongery, past the gasmen[illegible] the pitchy darkness toward the wharf [illegible] lately been moved from where it now [illegible] a fall, such a fall! and the reporter [illegible] finds his hat in a pile of rubbish [illegible] but no reporter attached thereto; a [illegible] lamed leg which proved eventually [illegible] to the reporter; and following this [illegible] suspended by a suspender in a [illegible] situation and bewilderment [illegible] in question never remembers [illegible] himself in, during the whole course [illegible] eventful and useful career. Getting [illegible] reporter concluded that that part [illegible] of the universe was not a good place [illegible] for lost steamships, and so he [illegible] home sadly and thoughtfully, [illegible] himself "O, carry me back," etc. [illegible] needless to remark that the steamship [illegible] found, at least not where the reporter [illegible].

[illegible] Republic."—This is the title of [illegible] of over 500 pages, published by Bancroft. It was written by Col. Albert S. Evans, of the party of four persons who accompanied Hon. Wm. H. Seward on his grand [illegible] at the invitation of the President [illegible]. It is an exceedingly well [illegible] of a gala trip through tropical [illegible], with graphic descriptions of the country, [illegible] scenery, matchless antiquities, [illegible] customs of the people, their religious [illegible] progress and present condition. It [illegible] also sketches of President Juarez and [illegible] Mexicans, and stirring reminiscences of the Spanish conquest, Maximilian, the [illegible] Mexico and its downfall. The book is [illegible] illustrated with engravings and portraits. [illegible] Seward says of the book: "The account [illegible] travels is full, truthful and accurate; [illegible] vivid and striking; the style [illegible] and attractive, and the book is interesting, and I think, calculated to do much good." [illegible], of Illinois, editor of the Chicago [illegible] says: "Col. Evans' style is wonderfully [illegible] and his descriptions always brilliant, [illegible] complete. I know of no writer whose [illegible] I more heartily enjoy." A cursory [illegible] of the book is sufficient to justify the [illegible] thus bestowed upon it. Col. Mr. Robert Barry, agent [illegible] of the book, is now in this city and [illegible] the canvass for subscriptions. [illegible] ever been offered in our State better [illegible] asked than this.

Nicolson Pavement.—We observe that the Nicolson pavement on Front street is [illegible] in quite a number of places. Some of [illegible] require immediate attention, or the cost of [illegible] will be greatly enlarged. There are a [illegible] places where only a few blocks are sunk, as [illegible] the under-lying plank had rotted and allowed them to be driven down. In other places [illegible] extend a part or all the way across [illegible] street where the foundation planks were [illegible] without breaking joints. In still other [illegible] the breaking of the pavement is doubtless [illegible] the settling of the ground into the sewers [illegible] drains. Long before spring it will be [illegible] to take up and repair many sections of [illegible]. We suggest to the Council that it [illegible] to make early provisions for [illegible] all the street sewers and cellar drains [illegible] brick and cement, where they underlie [illegible] pavement, with arched coverings. [illegible] decays so rapidly that no plank sewer can [illegible] to stand more than two or three [illegible] every time the pavement is taken up for [illegible] purposes, the foundation planks are cut, and [illegible] doubly liable to give way. Some [illegible] should be made to obviate the necessity [illegible] the pavement every time anybody [illegible] water or gas pipe laid. From this cause [illegible] are now many breaks where, other[illegible] the pavement would have been sound.

Revenue Divisions.—Mr. Thos. Frazar, U. S. [illegible] for the District of Oregon, furnishes the following as the re-division of this Internal Revenue District, with the names of the [illegible], number of the divisions, and the Assistant Assessors, etc.:

RULES OF THE CIRCUIT COURT.

The following are rules proposed to be hereafter prescribed and enforced by the Judge of the Circuit Court of the Fourth Judicial District, unless cause for change or modification shall be discovered:

Pleadings, depositions, other written evidence and reports of referees must be written legibly, without interlineation and upon one side of the paper. The lines of each page thereof must be numbered.

Before any pleading or other paper is filed in a case, its name must be plainly written, either with or without abbreviation, on the margin of each page thereof.

And in case of depositions and other written evidence, on the margin of each page must also be noted the name of the witness and the nature of the examination; that is, whether it is direct, cross or indirect.

When interrogatories are written to be used in any case, the several interrogatories filed in the action or suit, and not rejected or overruled, shall be numbered consecutively in one series.

If any of such interrogatories are overruled by a referee, and the ruling excepted to, those so overruled shall be numbered separately.

If such numbering or marginal notation be omitted by the party filing the paper, it shall be done by the Clerk.

All objections to interrogatories that shall be made before referees, must be passed upon by the referee or referees, and the decision noted.

Evidence or interrogatories offered by either party before referees, and overruled or not admitted, if the decision be excepted to, must be written on a part of the paper separate and distinct from the evidence that is deemed admissible.

An order was issued for the arrest of Ned. Glennon for disobedience of subpœna.

County Court—Hamilton, Judge.—In Probate.—In the matter of the estate of H. C. Northrup, deceased; petition to sell real estate at private sale granted.

County Business.—A license to run a ferry boat between North Portland and Clinton's Point was granted to Geo. W. Weidler.

On petition and proper showing the assessment of Thos. Glennon was abated $850; but it was ordered that his State tax be collected on the assessment as returned by the Assessor.

The assessment of J. C. Van Rensselaer was on like conditions abated $7,267 50.

The petition of A. P. Ankeny for abatement of his assessment was refused.

The bill of D. Simon, $30 75, for supplies furnished the Poor House, was allowed.

Mrs. Frush's petition, to have refunded to her $50, paid some years ago for a ferry license (the license having never been used), was granted.

F. W. Beale was ordered sent to the County Hospital.

The Weather and the Farmers.—There are at present quite a number of farmers in the city from various parts of the valley. They agree generally in the statement that the weather of the early months of fall was so dry as to prevent the sowing of the usual breadth of land to wheat. The ground was too dry and hard to be plowed, except in extremely mellow lands, and even where plowing had been done in June with the intention to sow early in September, it was too dry to sprout the seed, and thus there is now very little winter wheat growing. The ground has not been fit for plowing till since the late rains. It is now in excellent condition, and the impression is common among the farmers that the present delightful weather will start thousands of plows, and that, should it hold pleasant for a week, there will not only be the usual breadth of ground prepared, but that a great deal of wheat will be sown at once. Those who do not sow now, will prepare their ground and sow in January or February. In most seasons, wheat sown in those months is just as good as that sown in the fall, but the winter weather is not always suitable for plowing and seeding. The surest plan, therefore, is to sow in the fall, or when that cannot be done, to at least prepare the ground for winter seeding. The fine weather now prevailing is particularly favorable for the latter purpose, and is, therefore, particularly a Godsend to the farmers, as well as a delight to the city people.

Pastoral Letter.—Archbishop Blanchet, now at Rome, has written a pastoral letter to the Catholics of the diocese of Oregon City, giving an exposition of the "first two dogmatic constitutions of the Ecumenical Council." The letter is quite long, and is printed in pamphlet form at the Catholic Sentinel office in this city.

Business Notice.—Capt. Daniel O'Regan has lately established himself in the boot and shoe business at 108 Front street (between Alder and Morrison.) The Captain will take pleasure in fitting you out with anything you may want in his line, from a brogan shoe to a morocco or kid gaiter. Give him a call.

Lecture To-night.—Capt. S. J. McCormick will deliver his lecture at Vancouver this evening. Subject. "Two hours in Ireland."

Arrival of the Kentucky.—The brig Kentucky, Capt. Bryant, came alongside the dock yesterday morning, having arrived in the river Sunday evening. She sailed from San Francisco Oct. 22d, reached the Columbia bar on the 5th inst., and lay off and on waiting for a pilot till the 9th, when she was towed in by the tug Astoria.

LIST OF CONSIGNEES.

Oro Fino Theatre.—The drama of "Lucille, or The Story of a Heart"—new to Portland—was played last evening to a good house, and will be repeated to-night together with a laughable farce. We had not the fortune to see Lucille, but we hear the performance greatly praised by several excellent critics. It is French, and therefore demonstrative and dramatic. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bates play in favorite roles, and Mr. Vinson enacts the character of an old French soldier. With such a caste, the piece could hardly fail to be entirely satisfactory.

From Sitka.—The Geo. S. Wright, after a trip of extraordinary length—in consequence of bad weather—arrived in the Wallamet yesterday, but up to a late hour last evening had not come up to the dock. Dr. Weidler, the purser, came up in the afternoon on one of the river steamers.

MR. BOSCO'S REPLY.

Portland, Oregon, Nov. 14, 1870.

Messrs. N. H. Lane, J. J. Hoffman, and Gentlemen of the Committee: Your kind letter of the 12th inst., offering me a Farewell Benefit has caused me much pleasure as being a manifestation expressed towards my humble endeavors by the citizens of Portland.

Your tender is respectfully accepted, and I shall appoint Thursday evening, Nov. 17, 1870, at Philharmonic Hall, as the time and place most convenient.

I remain, Gentlemen, yours respectfully.
n16d1t CARL BOSCO.

The Summer is past and Autumn is here,
The finest season throughout the whole year,
But the days grow cool, and all must prepare
For warmer Clothing in Winter to wear.
Well, KOHN & FISHEL, of Clothing renown,
Have the best supply ever brought to town.
They have all sorts of coats and pants that will match,
That will last a whole year and not need a patch.
There are socks, vests and shirts and a thousand things more,
Which they offer you cheaper than ever before.
You all need the clothes and they need the tin,
Then get a new suit and let Winter go in.

If you wish to buy or rent Farms or City Property call on PARRISH & ATKINSON, Corner of Front and Alder streets, Portland, Oregon.

B. L. Stone, at 108 Front street, has just received by last steamer and will continue to receive by every steamer, new lots of CLOCKS, WATCHES and elegant JEWELRY of every description, which he will continue to sell very cheap, having found that the policy of "small profits and quick returns" is the secret road to success. He is also prepared to do all sorts of repairing on the shortest notice.

A Startling Truth!—Hundreds die annually from neglected coughs and colds, when by the use of a single bottle of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry their lives could be preserved to a green old age.

An Enemy in Your Mouth.—Do not put an enemy in your mouth to steal away your teeth. Beware of destructive tooth washes and tooth powders, many of which are base imitations of Sozodont. Insure a life lease of sound teeth and fragrant breath, by adopting the fragrant Sozodont.

"Spalding's Glue," handy about the house, mends everything.

No More Mercury for Me!—"Put them in the fire, my dear," was the advice of Mrs. Macarthy to her son, a bilious and dyspeptic youth who had just brought home another box of blue pills. "But what am I to take, then, mother?" said he. "Get a bottle of Plantation Bitters," she replied; "I'll guarantee it does you good." He did so; and then another and another. With the third bottle all his unpleasant symptoms vanished. In a letter to a young friend he relates this anecdote, and winds up with "No more mercury for me!"

Sea Moss Farine from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest, healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

Grant's and Lee's Armies—Letter from Gen. Badeau.

The London Standard of Oct. 12 publishes the following letter from Gen Badeau:

My attention has recently been drawn to an editorial article in the Standard for Oct. 5, which is devoted to Gen. Robert E. Lee. I have of course no right, and certainly no desire, to depreciate the estimate put by the Standard upon either the personal or the military character of Gen. Lee; but as the article in question contains several statements evidently based upon misinformation, I venture to ask that you will allow me to correct them in your columns. I have the less hesitation in making this request, because my principal authority for the proposed corrections is that of Gen. Lee himself.

All the original documents still in existence, which once belonged to the Southern War Office, are now in the possession of the United States Government; for, very soon after the capture of Richmond, they were, by the express direction of Mr. Jefferson Davis, surrendered by Gen. Joseph E. Johnston to Gen. Sherman. As Military and Private Secretary to Gen. Grant from the time when he took command of the armies of the United States until he became President, I have had for years unrestricted access, not only to his own official papers, but to all these captured archives, and have had occasion to study them more closely than any living man.

In the article of the Standard to which I refer it is declared—doubtless in good faith, for the declaration has been made before and in other quarters—that Gen. Lee, at the beginning of the Wilderness campaign, had but 50,000 men under his command, while Gen. Grant had three times as many. The official documents do not confirm this statement. The field returns of Lee, dated nearest the first battles of the Wilderness, is that of April 20, 1864; this gives 53,891 men present for duty, but does not include the strength of Longstreet's corps. Now Longstreet joined Lee after April 20, and prior to the battle which occurred in the first week of May. His field return of date nearest to the battle shows 18,387 present for duty, making 72,278 men under Lee at the battle of the Wilderness. The whole force present for duty under Grant, as shown by his field returns of the same date as Lee's, was 98,019, leaving a preponderance in favor of Grant of about 25,000 men, or a very little more than one-third.

The calculation that Grant had three times as many men as Lee has been obtained by omitting Longstreet's corps altogether from the estimate, and by giving only Lee's force present for duty on the Rapidan; while, in reckoning Grant's numbers, not only the present for duty are counted, but those constituting what, in military parlance, is called the total, which includes the sick, the extra-duty men, and various others, invariably amounting, in a large army, to many thousands. Manifestly, either Lee's total should be compared with Grant's total, or Grant's present for duty with Lee's present for duty. But [illegible] this, in order to make out Grant's army three times as large as Lee's, Grant's [illegible] in the Valley of Virginia and on the James River (each at least 100 miles from the Wilderness) are included in this estimate of his numbers; while the troops which Lee had in front of these separate forces of Grant are left out of the calculations altogether. I repeat that in the battle of the Wilderness, Lee had about 72,000 men engaged, while Grant had 98,000 present for duty—according to the confidential field returns made at the time by each General to his own Government, when no General would misstate or mislead.

Again, it is stated in the Standard article of the 5th inst. that Lee moved out of Richmond after its fall, with 26,000 men. His last field return was made in February, 1865; it is signed in his own had, and gives 59,094 present for duty, and 73,349 total. This does not include the local militia of Richmond, nor the crews of the gunboats in the James river, both of which forces were always put into the trenches in an assault, and many of whom, doubtless, moved out of Richmond with Lee. Together they numbered, at least, several thousands. In the battle of Five Forks and the subsequent assaults on Petersburg, which resulted in the capture of Richmond, Lee may have lost 20,000 men, but this would have left him, by any computation, at least 40,000 troops, with which he fled from the fallen city.

Once more, the article in question states that 8,000 men were surrendered by Lee at Appomatox Court House. The official records show that 27,416 soldiers were actually paroled at that place, beside the tens of thousands also belonging to Lee's army, who came in afterward and yielded themselves prisoners of war. Each of these gave his separate written parole. I was present at the surrender of Gen. Lee. The event took place in a small room of what appeared to be an ordinary farm house, and in the presence of fewer than 20 persons. After Gen. Lee had signed the capitulation he immediately requested Gen. Grant to supply the prisoners with food, as they had been living on two ears of Indian corn a day for several days. Grant at once consented, and asked Lee how many men he had in his command. Lee replied that he could not tell; he had received no returns for several days; his troops had been killed or wounded, or captured in such numbers that he could not estimate his actual force. Grant inquired if 25,000 rations would be enough, and he answered that he thought they would; 25,000 rations were accordingly issued by Grant's officers to Lee's army. This, therefore, was Lee's idea of his own numbers on the day of his surrender, although, as proved by the paroles, it was too small.

The original documents from which the above figures are taken, are now on file in the War-office at Washington, but official copies of them are now in my possession.

A Big Swindle.—There are probably over four thousand dollars from this county invested in the Mercantile Library Lottery, and as far as heard from, only one hundred dollars has been drawn in the county. This gambling will be harder on many persons than if they had "bucked" at monte or faro, yet it is countenanced by the State and county officials and encouraged by action of special protection of a Democratic Legislature in violation of the Constitution. We condemned the act when passed, and are now more opposed, since we see the evil effects of it, and how many poor men have lost so much of their means by this reckless gambling. Some men would starve their poor families to take tickets, just as a drunkard will spend his last dime for drink.—Yreka Journal.

LAWS OF OREGON.

An Act to amend sections 1,056 and 1,057 of chapter 15 of an Act entitled "An Act to provide a Code of Civil Procedure."

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon: Section 1. That section 1,056 be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted instead thereof:

Sec. 1,056. No executor or administrator is authorised to act as such until he shall file with the Clerk of the County Court having jurisdiction of the estate and undertaking in a sum not less than double the probable value of the estate, with one or more sufficient sureties to be approved by the County Judge, to be void upon the condition that such executor or administrator shall faithfully perform the duties of his trust according to law: Provided, That when by the terms of his will a testator shall expressly declare that no bonds shall be required of his executors, such executors may act upon taking an oath to faithfully fulfill his trust without filing the undertaking in this section mentioned. Provided, further, That such executor shall be criminally and civilly liable as other executors and administrators are for any dereliction of duty.

Sec. 2. That Section 1,057 be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted instead thereof:

Sec. 1,057. Whenever the penal sum mentioned in the undertaking prescribed in the preceding Sections exceed ten thousand dollars, three or more sureties may become severally liable for portions of said sum, if the aggregate sum for which such sureties become liable shall equal the penal sum required in the undertaking.

Sec. 3. Inasmuch as much inconvenience is caused by the existing law, this Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its approval by the Governor.

Approved October 22, 1870.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands coterminous with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government. The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" their claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, sunken and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, an dyou will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian jy5d4ptf

THE RIVERSIDE

HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

OF

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON,

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS to their Stock.

Application for ONE HUNDRED SHARES [illegible] before the books were opened, and a large number of Shares have been taken.

The following extracts from the [illegible] will convey a good idea of the plan and [illegible] the Association, the location of the [illegible]

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

This association of which [illegible] an account a few days since, [illegible] pose of shares. As it is with [illegible] Portland Homestead Association [illegible] ganization of that kind in this [illegible] well enough to state what [illegible] the manner in which it is [illegible] operations. The purposes of [illegible] Associations are not at all [illegible] dinary sense of the word. [illegible] for the profits of their [illegible] ral advance in the value of [illegible] quent upon the co-operation [illegible] —shareholders—and the advance of [illegible] surrounding lands by reason of [illegible] population and demand for [illegible] still near, the city. The [illegible] Association has a fraction [illegible] twenty acres of land [illegible] Brooklyn on the east side of [illegible] est boundary line being [illegible] farry landing at East Portland [illegible] in one strip along the Willamette [illegible] in length, and another [illegible] California railroad, [illegible] strips being connected [illegible] rows of blocks (with a street [illegible] whole forming a figure [illegible] It is divided into 74 blocks [illegible] streets running at right [illegible] al lots, along the river [illegible] ber 600, worth $50 per share [illegible] a share thus repr[illegible] vided interest in the [illegible] tional shares are to be [illegible] for the benefit of the [illegible] coming in for the [illegible] number of shares [illegible] taken and the [illegible] mine to do it, the choice [illegible] will be put up at [illegible] bidder, the premium [illegible] the original price of [illegible] equally among the [illegible] Thus, if a person wants a [illegible] and is willing to pay [illegible] the lot or block as [illegible] premium being divided [illegible] of shareholders. It [illegible] everything is co-operative [illegible] tus. No man can make [illegible] out of another except [illegible] shareholder. There is [illegible] the property, by some [illegible] far below the first [illegible] liable to happen in the [illegible] tract of land must be [illegible] but considering the [illegible] vance on real estate [illegible] hood, and at East Portland [illegible] last year or two, [illegible] values to go back. [illegible] In the Riverside Association [illegible] tions seem to have [illegible] monopolies of shares. [illegible] buy more than [illegible] three blocks, or [illegible] termining the [illegible] restricted in the [illegible] shares may pay [illegible] exempt them from all [illegible] pay $15 quarterly [illegible] share, payable with the [illegible] liable in this latter case to [illegible] pay, and the shares [illegible] as above, the holder [illegible] and his proportion of [illegible] all sources. No officer of the [illegible] any pay for services [illegible] gets $25 per month [illegible] expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying along the [illegible] a high plateau, nearly level, [illegible] above the water. There is [illegible] row of blocks [illegible] Portland and the river [illegible] stream. That part of the [illegible] railroad is, every foot of it [illegible] soil and adapted to gardening [illegible] tiful little stream of pure [illegible] almost the entire length [illegible] affording the means of [illegible] ficient to supply pure water [illegible] whole tract. There is not [illegible] lot in the entire tract. [illegible] tages, it would seem [illegible] of any chance of loss [illegible] year each shareholder [illegible] perfect title to as [illegible] represent, or he may [illegible] vided, with the Association [illegible] tion may exist.

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

We have been [illegible] fact that the subject of [illegible] skirts of this city and East [illegible] discussed here among all [illegible] "Riverside," just south of [illegible] been established. The [illegible] ing a little over a mile along [illegible] shaped like the letter [illegible] in length, borders on the river [illegible]

From this portion of the [illegible] but a trifle above the [illegible] forty or fifty feet above the [illegible] sive view of Portland, East Portland [illegible] the Willamette river for several [illegible] fertile, and is partly covered [illegible] tract of land just wide enough [illegible] with an avenue between them [illegible] of it all (of which less than one [illegible] the east. This last tract of land [illegible] valley, which is now a good deal [illegible] Through its whole length runs a [illegible] of which is clear as crystal. [illegible] Association proposes to [illegible] pers of every portion of [illegible]
